DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-24, drawn to oligonucleotides and vectors, classified in class 536, subclass 23.1, and class 435, subclass 320.1.
 - II. Claims 25-41, drawn to methods of preparing oligonucleotides and gene mapping, classified in class 435, subclass 91.4, and class 435, subclass 6.
 - III. Claim 42, drawn to methods of recovering full-length cDNA, classified in class 435, subclass 91.1.
 - IV. Claim 43, drawn to methods for quantifying transcriptional activity of a gene, classified in class 435, subclass 6.
2. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:
 - a) restriction enzymes recited in instant claim 9 of group 1.
 - b) restriction enzymes recited in instant claim 35 of group 1.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Specifically, applicant should elect one of the restriction enzymes recited in claim 9 of group 1 and one of the restriction enzymes recited in claim 35 of group 1.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

1. Inventions group 2-4 and 1 are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the oligonucleotides of group 1 can be made by chemical synthesis. In addition, art relating to the methods of preparing the oligonucleotides of group 1 that are recited in groups 2-4 would not necessarily provide structural information on the oligonucleotides themselves, and vice-versa.
2. Inventions of groups 2-4 are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects. The inventions of group 2 involve the production of ditags by enzymatic manipulation, the inventions of group 3 involve the recovering of a ditag from a cDNA library, sequencing it, and recovering the full-length cDNA corresponding to the ditag from the library, while the inventions of group 4 involve recovering a ditag from a cDNA library, sequencing it, and determining the frequency of the sequenced ditag which corresponds to the transcriptional activity of the gene. Therefore, the different inventions have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects.

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for each group is not coextensive, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
